New Dishwashers Provide Unsurpassed Flexibility

No matter what style kitchen you have, ASKO has the perfect dishwasher to meet your needs.

ASKO is an industry leader with innovative, stylish products and a desire to continually surpass expectations. The D5000 series of dishwashers is the latest and greatest from ASKO. Not only does this series possess unsurpassed capacity and flexibility, but it is even more adaptable than before; giving the consumer more installation options than ever.

Toe Kick Range
2.5" – 6.5"

Three Door Panel

The D3251FI and the D5000 series now have a toe kick with a range of 2.5" – 6.5", allowing them to be installed in practically any style of setting. This feature is especially applicable in kitchens where the countertops are not a standard height or European cabinetry is being used.

"It is nice to have a toe kick that has a range of four inches, especially when I am designing a kitchen with European style cabinetry" stated Jodi Caden, President and Founder of Caden Design Group. "Versatility like this is extremely important in the marketplace."

In addition to the increased toe kick range, all fully integrated models now have the capability to allow three front door panels installed, versus just one. "The three-door panel is extremely important when it comes to flexibility" says Caden. This feature is a design element that is not only visually appealing, but also extremely practical when it comes to installing fully integrated models.
